

How do we know that our curriculum is having the desired impact?

Teachers	Children	Children's work
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Become more knowledgeable. • Have higher levels of confidence in delivering all areas of the curriculum. • Can give senior leaders and subject leads feedback about what is working well. • Are acutely aware of how children are coping with the taught content.* • Teach consistently well; applying sound pedagogical practices in all lessons. • Plan coherent learning journeys based on the unit overviews. • Seek support from subject leads when they are less confident. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Can talk with confidence about what they have learned, using correct terminology. • Are enthused and interested in a wide range of curriculum areas. • Can talk about the specific characteristics of subjects and the disciplines associated with them. • Can show adults examples of their learning and describe the 'why' behind work they have produced. • Demonstrate good learning behaviours in all lessons. • Are able to explain how their learning within a subject builds on previous learning. • Are able to make thoughtful links between subjects. • Can all access, enjoy and make progress within the curriculum - regardless of their starting points, or any additional needs they may have. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Demonstrates that they take pride in what they produce. Children show the same effort as they would in Maths or English, for example. • Captures their increasing understanding of key concepts within each subject. • Illustrates their developing understanding of the disciplines of each subject, as well as the declarative knowledge content. • Shows that a coherent teaching sequence has taken place within each unit of work. • Demonstrates our curriculum's emphasis on subject-specific terminology.
Visitors and Governors	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Give us positive feedback about pupil engagement and behaviour in lessons. • Comment on the high-quality work that they see. • Report that leaders are clear about strengths and weaknesses, and have clear plans to address areas for development. 	Parents and Carers	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Give us positive feedback about their children's attitudes to school. • Share examples of when their children have been enthused by the curriculum (e.g. they've been talking about learning at home, or carrying out their own research because of their interest).

The curriculum is the progression model, and is pitched to be appropriately challenging. Therefore, if teachers know that children are coping well and are able to demonstrate their understanding, then we know it is working and that children are making progress.*
